Your Resources

The following resources will help you in the creation of your online instruction.
iTAC

• Contact iTAC for many of your technology needs and questions. They can answer many questions about K-State Online and how to use software.

• Phone: 785-532-7722

• Email: helpdesk@k-state.edu
Student and Faculty Services

• Global Campus does offer faculty services that pertain to proctoring exams, corresponding with students, etc.
• Phone : 785-532-5575
• Email : global@k-state.edu
Web Services

• Web Services is a great resource for using the web template and content management system used for the creation of K-State web pages. They are also very familiar with accessibility needs and standards.

• Phone : 785-532-2535

• Email : webservices@k-state.edu
Instructional Designer

• DSS works closely with the Instructional Designers. Instructional Designers are available to assist faculty in developing engaging and high quality learning environments for both on and off campus use. Whether you are posting your first online syllabus for a traditional course or designing an entirely new online graduate program, the Instructional Designers may assist you.

Global Campus Coordinators

• Your coordinator with Global Campus can be a great source of information. They have worked with our office and know about testing accommodations as well as content accessibility. As you create accessible videos they can help insure that content is placed online correctly so that students can efficiently access captions.

• Contact Information can be found online at http://global.k-state.edu/faculty/contact/.
Student Access Center

- SAC is happy to help you make your course more accessible to students and understand the technical barriers which may impact students with disabilities.
